International Meeting Survey

The consensus from the survey was that international meetings ought to be held every 4-5 years. Meetings in Canada and Mexico are not considered to be "international".

- Canada & Mexico may be considered international for government and industry employees. This was discussed at Technical Council.

Editor-In-Chief Report

- List of “competitor journals” so we can compare metrics
 - Now have a complete set for all TC’s and Education
 - Kat Setzer et al have looked up key metrics for all these journals!
 - Analysis of comparison with JASA is underway (SP Task III)
- Quarterly “TC Chair Picks”
 - Is ASA’s version of “Editor’s Pick”, and gives great PR to the authors
 - Allows us to highlight papers in addition to “Most Cited” and “Most Read” papers on Scitation
 - Let Bill Murphy know if you have any picks or papers you’d like to highlight
- Thesaurus “keyword” input
 - Not the most fun task, but should get our papers more “hits.”
- Coordinating Editors for each TC (need 3 more!)
 - Need someone who is reliable and has an overview of topics and AE personnel
 - Biomedical (Ron Roy needed to step down), Noise, Engineering
 - Kirill Horoshenkov will serve as the Coordinating Editor for Noise. The CE’s role is to assign papers to the appropriate editor who will find reviewers
- Associate Editors – Noise needs two more Associate Editors
 - William Murphy will serve as an Associate Editor for JASA.
- Quarterly “TC Chair Picks” and Image for the JASA landing page on the Scitation site. (Next choices are due last week of December – I will contact you!)
 - Four TC’s make a pick each quarter, two weeks in advance. We rotate TC’s
 - AB, Architectural, P&P, and SC were (quickly) chosen for launch.
 - Jim Lynch will be contacting the TCs on this
 - Great advertising and free access for 90 days!
 - AIPP needs cool figure from each of chosen articles.
- “Special Content” articles/issues recommendations
 - Special Issues, Guest articles, Reviews, Tutorials, Forum articles
 - Again, great advertising, free to author and permanent free access.
 - These give big boost to Journal IF.
 - Ning Xiang: Doing an special issue on Room acoustics modeling
 - Useful to bring other people from other societies to our society and journal to see what we’re doing
- Routine discussion with each TC about AE staffing!
 - Number and technical sub-specialties that need coverage.
 - Desperately need two more Speech AE’s for JASA-EL.
- What “metrics” for publication success (speed of review, IF, downloads, shelf life, immediacy) does each TC have?
 - This likely varies between TC’s, and we can tailor some things accordingly.

New Business

- A discussion was held regarding the quality of papers presented in one of the sessions. At least three of the papers in the Wind Turbine session were of a more anecdotal nature rather than presenting new findings or science. The question that arose was how or who's responsibility is it to review the abstracts and then to potentially reject the abstracts. The Organizer of the special session really should be responsible to read the abstracts and provide a recommendation regarding whether the abstract should be accepted. In the particular situation that sparked this controversy, the papers were accepted and presented, but the abstracts contained little or no indication that they had new scientific content to present. This topic was discussed in the Technical Council on Friday morning. The responsibility lies with the session organizer and with the TPOM organizer for the Noise sessions. In the future, papers will receive greater scrutiny.

 - Bring people from different disciplines together to explore overlaps of topics
 - Identify challenges in acoustics to keep competitive with other subjects for funding

- Lily: Strategic plan ASA put together
 - 4 goals
 - Awareness of Acoustics (Task Force 1)
 - Trying to move ahead in growing awareness in International Awareness Day (Wednesday, April 25, 2018)
 - Brainstorming with Keeta Jones (Ed coordinator) with possible topics related to noise
 - Watch-a-lon of In Pursuit of Silence through Google Hangout
 - Using SoundPrint or Hush app – promoting everyone to use this (try to measure 100,000 restaurants, have a goal #)

The TC Noise was in favor of supporting this effort.
